

OUT IN THE MEADOW.

LESSONS are over, and boys and girls have scampered through the garden, out into the broad green meadow, which serves as a pasturage for the cow and the children's pony. They have obtained their parents' permission, and now, in great good humour—with laugh, and shout, and song—they have clasped each